Whether you like it or not, you have heard our music, unless you live in a cave without television or radio. Our tunes have been cranked up on That Metal Show, before 3rd down at Dallas Cowboys games, MTV promos, the power play song for the Dallas Stars, the intro music for the nationally syndicated Lex and Terry show, and songs heard on Extreme Couponing, Gene Simmons Family Jewels, SpeedHD, Discovery, VH1, and absolutely loads of TV spots, radio ads, and even a movie soundtrack. THAT is RIVETHEAD.

Heavy, grooving, and sometimes melodic metal, laced with the electronic elements of a sci-fi movie soundtrack. If the Blade Runner, Tron, and Mortal Kombat soundtracks were thrown into a musical blender with Metallica, Pantera, Korn, and Fear Factory, you'd get something pretty wicked. It might sound a lot like this. Drawing influences heavily from bands such as Static-X, Powerman5000, White Zombie, NIN, Ministry, and Rammstein, RIVETHEAD is a hard-rocking band, born from the Dallas scene, which has gone on to gain national exposure through live gigs, radio, television, and film.
